

State University of New York-Stony Brook,

I would like to extend my warmest welcome to your distinguished university and invite you to hold cordial discussions with universities and enterprises in Anhui to explore the possibilities of cooperation, with a hope to jointly launch the first top-notch Sino-American cooperative educational institution in Anhui.

Anhui Province and SBU have well-established and long-standing relations. Prof. Chen-Ning Yang, an excellent faculty member of your university, is from Hefei, Anhui. In recent years, the economic, technological and educational sections in Anhui have seen rapid development, with the opening up of educational policies and an improving investment and legal environment. Therefore, Anhui would be an ideal destination for SUNY-Stony Brook to establish educational programs in China.

Meanwhile, I hope that we can take the opportunity of cooperative education to explore the possibilities of further developing the friendly relations between Anhui Province and New York State. It is expected that both parties can actively initiate pragmatic cooperation in multiple fields and at all levels so as to achieve mutual benefits and win-win solutions and enhance the welfare of the people in two countries.

Wish our cooperation a great success!

Best regards,

WANG Xin
